ST. LOUIS DOCUMENTARY FILM PREMIRE:

RIGHT TO HARM

Illustrating the public health impact of animal factory farming in the United States as told through the eyes of residents in five rural communities.

Wed Oct 23 | 6 PM to 8 PM
Risa Commons, Washington University in St. Louis

PANEL DISCUSSION AFTER THE FILM:

Sophie Watterson, Wash U student and intern at Missouri Coalition for the Environment
Terry Spence, Socially Responsible Agricultural Project
Wallis Warren, former Clean Water Commission member
Brian Smith, Missouri Rural Crisis Center

Moderated by Melissa Vatterott, Missouri Coalition for the Environment

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC
Eventbrite tickets required (https://bit.ly/35gvHMr)
Walk-ins admitted at 5:50 pm to fill vacant seats
Free parking in Wallace Garage after 5pm

QUESTIONS?
Contact Melissa Vatterott
mvatterott@moenviron.org | 314-727-0600, ext. 111

Washington University in St. Louis
MCE 50 YEARS Missouri Coalition for the Environment 1969 2019
SRAP Socially Responsible Agricultural Project
SIERRA CLUB MISSOURI CHAPTER
MISSOURI RURAL CRISIS CENTER